

Bachelor of Arts (B.A)

Program Outcomes:

1. Critical Thinking and Analysis:

- Female students will develop the ability to critically analyze various texts, theories, and concepts within their chosen discipline.
- They will demonstrate proficiency in evaluating arguments and synthesizing information from diverse sources.

2. Communication Skills:

- Female students will enhance their verbal and written communication skills, enabling them to articulate their thoughts effectively.
- They will learn to express themselves confidently in both academic and professional settings.

3. Cultural and Global Awareness:

- Female students will gain an understanding of diverse cultures, societies, and global issues through their coursework.
- They will develop empathy and appreciation for different perspectives, contributing to their cultural competence.

4. Research and Information Literacy:

- Female students will acquire research skills, including the ability to gather, evaluate, and utilize information from various sources.
- They will demonstrate proficiency in conducting independent research projects within their field of study.

5. Interdisciplinary Knowledge:

- Female students will explore interdisciplinary connections between different subjects, fostering a holistic understanding of the world.
- They will recognize the intersections between various academic disciplines and apply this knowledge to real-world problems.

Program-Specific Outcomes:

1. Gender Studies:

- Female students will engage with gender-related theories and perspectives, examining issues of equality, representation, and empowerment.

2. Literature and Language Studies:

- They will develop critical interpretations of texts and contribute to the discourse on gender in literature and language.

3. Social Sciences:

- Female students will study the complexities of social structures and institutions, including their impact on women's lives and experiences.
- They will engage in discussions on gender roles, family dynamics, and societal norms, contributing to the advancement of gender equality in Haryana and beyond.

4. History and Cultural Studies:

- Female students will examine the historical experiences of women in Haryana and beyond, shedding light on their contributions, struggles, and achievements.
- They will critically evaluate narratives of gender in historical contexts, challenging stereotypes and amplifying marginalized voices.

1. Teaching: Opportunities in schools, colleges, and coaching institutes for subjects like English, Hindi, and other subjects .

2. Civil Services: Preparation for civil services examinations with a strong background in Public Administration, Political Science, and History.

3. Journalism and Media: Roles in print, electronic, and digital media for individuals with language proficiency and communication skills.
4. Government Sector: Opportunities in various government departments related to administration, economics, history, and public policy.
5. Research: Pursuing further studies or research in areas like economics, history, political science, and music.

Course Outcomes (Cos):

English

1. Mastery in reading, writing, and speaking English fluently.
2. Understanding of English literature across different periods and genres.
3. Ability to critically analyze literary texts and express interpretations effectively.
4. Competence in creative writing and literary criticism.

Hindi:

1. Proficiency in reading, writing, and speaking Hindi.
2. Appreciation of Hindi literature and its cultural significance.
3. Ability to analyze and interpret Hindi literary texts.
4. Competence in Hindi composition and communication skills.

Sanskrit:

1. Competency in reading, writing, and speaking Sanskrit.
2. Understanding of classical Sanskrit literature and grammar.
3. Proficiency in translating Sanskrit texts and interpreting their meanings.
4. Ability to apply Sanskrit language in contemporary contexts.

Political Science:

1. Analyze political theories and ideologies to understand the foundations of government and governance.
2. Evaluate the impact of political institutions and processes on society and individuals.
3. Demonstrate critical thinking skills by examining contemporary political issues and debates.
4. Apply research methods to investigate political phenomena and develop informed perspectives.
5. Communicate effectively, both orally and in writing, on political topics to diverse audiences.

Public Administration:

1. Understand the principles and practices of public administration and management.
2. Analyze the role of government agencies and organizations in policy making and implementation.
3. Develop skills in organizational management, budgeting, and public policy analysis.
4. Evaluate the ethical dimensions of public service and decision-making.
5. Apply administrative theories and techniques to address real-world challenges in the public sector.

Economics:

1. Demonstrate a solid understanding of economic principles, including microeconomics and macroeconomics.
2. Analyze economic data and apply economic models to interpret and predict market behavior.
3. Evaluate the impact of economic policies on individuals, businesses, and society.
4. Develop quantitative and analytical skills through economic analysis and research.
5. Communicate economic concepts and findings effectively in written reports and presentations.

History:

1. Interpret historical events, movements, and developments within their social, cultural, and political contexts.
2. Analyze primary and secondary sources critically to construct historical narratives and arguments.
3. Evaluate competing interpretations of historical events and historiographical debates.
4. Apply historical methods and research techniques to investigate specific topics or periods.
5. Communicate historical knowledge and analysis clearly and persuasively, both orally and in writing.

Physical Education:

1. Mastery of physical fitness concepts and practices.
2. Competence in various sports and recreational activities.
3. Understanding of anatomy, physiology, and nutrition.
4. Promotion of healthy lifestyle choices and community engagement.

Music:

1. Proficiency in vocal music performance.
2. Appreciation of diverse musical traditions and styles.
3. Understanding of music theory and composition.
4. Expression of creativity through musical interpretation and improvisation.

Home Science:

1. Knowledge of nutrition, food science, and meal planning.
2. Competency in cooking, textile design, clothing, construction, and interior decoration.
3. Understanding of child development, family dynamics, and human development.
4. Application of home management skills in daily life and community settings.